Boy's Body Recovered From River Saturday

The body of 7 year-old Jack Collins was recovered from the North Fork of the Kentucky River around 5:30 p.m. Saturday afternoon climaxing a week long search for the boy who drowned April 10, while playing on the banks of the river at Lohair.

The body was found in some Pratt and John Cooner, who dived that had caught in a willow tree about 10 feet from the bank just below the Old Bomber boat park near Darfork, about 5 miles downstream.

Bill Wooten Files For County Clerk

Wm. Bill Wooten, of Duff, has announced his candidacy for the office of County Clerk, subject to the Democratic Primary, May 25, 1965.

A native of Perry County, Mr. Wooten has served as County Treasurer since 1958. He was instrumental in helping Perry County get a Federal Grant for the construction of a new courthouse and jail and becoming the third county in the state to receive the Food Stamp Program.

If elected, Mr. Wooten has pledged to "give my full time to that important office, to hire the best available and experienced personnel to work with me, to see that all records kept in the clerk's office will be indexed properly and in their proper place, to work willingly as Clerk of the Fiscal Court.

The Search Is Over

Perry County Rescue Squad members A. C. Pratt and John Cooner and volunteer C. V. Cooper are shown shortly after they recovered the body of 7 year-old Jack Collins from the North Fork of the Kentucky River near Darfork. The body was recovered around 5:30 p.m., Saturday afternoon about 10 feet from the bank lodged in a willow tree. The sheet in the center of the boat contains the body that was in the river exactly one week.

Housing and Home Finance Agency Approves Program; Advisory Committee, Appointed

Perry County today received approval of any specific Federal aid. The Workable Program for Community improvement through the elimination and prevention of slums and blight.

Perry County (Pop. 34,960) is in the southeastern part of the State. The city of Hazard is its County Seat. This program is for the incorporated areas of the county.

Formal approval of a Workable Program is necessary before a community is eligible to receive Federal aids in the form of loans and grants for urban renewal programs and for federally-aided low-rent housing, and more liberal FHA mortgage insurance to assist in the private redevelopment of project areas and for rehousing displaced families.

This approval does not constitute approval of any specific Federal aid. The Workable Program is a showing by the community of how it intends to use its own public and private resources to eliminate and prevent slums and blight. Once its program is approved it can apply for the Federal aids to supplement local resources as needed. The community must show reasonable progress each year under its Workable Program in order to obtain recertification and to remain eligible for the Federal aids.

Hazard County officials reported that a Codes Review Committee has been appointed and they expect to accomplish adoption of building, electrical, housing, gas, and fire prevention codes during the year. A plumbing code is in effect.

Of the Comprehensive Community Plan, officials stated that a Perry County Planning Commission has been established which, with technical assistance from the Kentucky Department of Commerce's Planning and Zoning Division, will develop and implement a comprehensive general plan for the County. Neighborhood Analyses are expected to be completed by 1969, they said.

The Perry County Housing Commission, the officials reported, will be responsible for relocation housing assistance to families displaced by urban renewal and other types of governmental action.

A Citizens Advisory Committee and a subcommittee to study minority group housing problems have been appointed.

Council To Meet At Buckhorn

The Buckhorn Community Council will meet tomorrow night at 7 p.m. at the Buckhorn Community Church. Everyone is urged to attend.

"This, of course, does not mean we're a success—not yet anyway," cautioned Mrs. Combs, a realistic veteran of many such drives, "but it does mean

In the not-too-distant future, Eastern Kentucky highways and roads may be entirely clear of the countless abandoned automobiles, piles of rubbish, and other debris which have long disfigured an otherwise scenic countryside.

A hopeful crusade begun last month by a handful of Perry County enthusiasts has blossomed into what is fast becoming an area-wide clean-up effort, supported alike by private homeowners and cooperating State agencies, in step with Kentucky's 1965 Homecoming Year.

"By mid-April the unofficial total of junked cars removed from the county roadways was about 250," said Steve Sandlin, Hazard-based regional sanitation consultant for the State Health Department.

"In addition, for the first time Perry County has public dumping facilities. In the past few weeks, six garbage dumps have been located within easy access of anyone in the county who wants to get rid of trash on his property."

Spearheading the drive is the community facilities committee of the Perry County Development Association, headed by Mrs. Gene Combs. A Hazard resident, Mrs. Combs is outgoing president of the Garden Club of Kentucky Inc.

A dinner meeting was held March 1 at the Eversole Elementary School, Hazard, to "kick off" the association's efforts. More than 100 individual citizens and representatives of 25 local organizations heard what Mrs. Combs later termed "blunt-spoken, no-nonsense" speeches by Sandlin and Mrs. Connie Quinn, beautification director of the State Natural Resources Department.

The next step was taken a few days later by the semi-weekly, The Hazard Herald, which endorsed the project in an equally blunt-spoken editorial, titled "Our Last Chance?"

"This new attempt," the editor noted in part, "apparently has established an organizational structure capable of bringing to bear the appropriate corrective resources upon the worst of our public eyesores (and) they have wisely decided to make the project a continuing, year round thing, after a month of intensive effort, starting March 15."

"This drive is Perry County's chance."

It was, the volunteer workers admitted, a most ambitious undertaking, but the combination of their solid planning and the "let us finally begin" reproach by such influential community leaders as the Hazard newspaper seemed to do the trick. In one week alone, 120 old cars were removed from Ky. Highway 28, between Buckhorn and Hazard, in the vicinity of ruggedly beautiful Buckhorn Lake State Park.

Assisting the local citizens are several government agencies. The State Health Department is advising the communities and helping to implement health regulations; the State Police are serving recalcitrant landowners with warnings to dispose of garbage and rubbish; the State Highway Department, the forestry division of the State Natural Resources Department, and the State Education Department, through the Hazard Vocational School, have furnished mechanical equipment and other help; and the State Economic Security Department and county magistrates are making available manpower as needed, by way of the Federal Work Experience and Training Program.

"It is a case of hands pitching in," one man observed. Perry County's bootstrap effort has not gone unnoticed, either, despite the fact that it has just barely started. Surrounding communities have begun to take up similar work, several inquiries have been received from far-flung parts of Kentucky, and even a national outfit, based in the Midwest, has wired their support and asked for full details.

"This, of course, does not mean we're a success—not yet anyway," cautioned Mrs. Combs, a realistic veteran of many such drives, "but it does mean we're getting the things done that really need to be done.

Editor's Note: The Perry County Cleanup's war on old junk cars couldn't be a more timely and needed undertaking. We learned last week that Larry Watts, the 4-year-old son of Mrs. Mary Jane Watts of Cornettsville, was critically burned while playing around one of those abandoned eye sores. Watts struck a match and gas that was left in the gas tank exploded causing serious injury to the youngster's face.

Watts was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Lexington last week where he is reported to be progressing nicely.

When all of these old cars are picked up by the clean-up workers this type of accident shouldn't happen again.

Bill Cornett To Run For Sheriff

William (Bill) Cornett, of Airport Gardens, has filed for the office of Sheriff of Perry County. He has previously served a term as Sheriff.

In announcing his candidacy, Mr. Cornett said, "My record speaks for itself. I will give the same sober administration as I did before."

"I pledge to protect schools, churches and all citizens of Perry County to the best of my ability."

"I will make every effort to visit every voter of Perry County. Your vote and support in my behalf will be greatly appreciated."

William (Bill) Cornett

Advisory Council of ARH Answers Inquiries . . .

In response to numerous inquiries about the role of the Community Advisory Council of the Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital, the Council has prepared the following statement:

The ten hospitals in the Regional Hospitals system are the people's hospitals. The people—the citizens, the tax-payers—have a vested interest in these hospitals. They are the property of the people perhaps more so than any other hospitals of their kind, and for a particular reason.

Eight million dollars of the tax-payers' money is invested in these hospitals. The federal government, through the United States Area Redevelopment Administration, provided this $8 million to Appalachian Regional Hospitals, a non-profit organization, for purchase of the hospitals. The federal government did this with the understanding that Appalachian Regional Hospitals would hold the ten hospitals in trust for the communities in which they are located.

Because of this unusual heritage, it was only natural that the founders of Appalachian Regional Hospitals, and the trustees who undertook to carry out the founders' wishes, should exercise care to make certain that this property is administered in the interest of the people and for the welfare of their communities.

The basic responsibility for discharge of this obligation was placed in the hands of a special group of representative citizens in each community. These groups are called Community Advisory Councils to the ARH hospitals. Advisory Councils is probably a misnomer, because these citizens actually constitute the board of directors of each hospital.

The citizens on these Advisory Councils speak for the people. They are the voice of the people—the voice of the community. It is their job to see that the hospitals are run properly and in the interest of all the people.

It might be said with accuracy that the Advisory Councils, next to the doctors, are the Appalachian Regional Hospitals' greatest asset. They perform as protector, regulator and balance wheel.

These Advisory Councils, besides being responsible for the proper operation of their community's ARH hospital, also help fix policy for the entire system of ten hospitals. The overall general policy for the hospital system as established by a Board of 29 trustees. One or more of these trustees sits on each Community Advisory Council. The Trustees vest great confidence in the advisory councils. The judgments of the Advisory Councils are listened to with respect by the Trustees, because the trustees know that the community leaders on the Advisory Councils are close to the people and are in a position to interpret and express the peoples' wishes.

So, the Advisory Councils, speaking through the trustees, have an important influence on the entire ARH system.

Now, what kind of people make up the Advisory Councils? On the Advisory Council of the Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital are men and women well known and respected, we believe, by the community. They include the owner of a hardware store, a coal operator, the manager of a farm center, the division manager of a power company, the county court clerk, a bank president, the owner of a department store, the owner of a shoe store, the president of the Garden Club of Kentucky, the owner of an automobile agency, the general manager of the local radio station, the manager of a lumber company, a farmer, and an automobile dealer.

These are the people who determine how the Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital shall be operated. Similar groups of such citizens set the policies for operation of each of the nine hospitals in the ARH system.

This description of the Advisory Council is not intended to detract in any degree from the stature and importance of the hospital's Administrator, Mr. Thomas M. Fain. The Advisory Council members, however, have their own business to look after. After all, they are dedicating their services free of charge to the hospital and to the people of the community. So, they must have an expert in hospital administration to carry out the wishes of the Council. That is the role of the administrator. He is the general manager of the hospital, and the general manager in any well-ordered business firm, he gives full force and effect to the wishes and policies established by the Advisory Council.

Let us look at the duties of the Advisory Council member. They are many.

Their most important responsibility is the control of the quality of medical care provided by the hospital. This control is exercised through the chief of the hospital's medical staff. Of course, the Council members do not tell any physician how to perform an operation or what medicines to prescribe. The Council members are interested only in seeing that the hospital's patients receive the best medical care possible.

Other responsibilities of the Advisory Councils, working with and through the Administrator, are budget control, the fixing of hospital rates, the establishment of policy on admissions, the selection of important personnel, union negotiations, the hospital's credit policies, determination of how the hospital's space can best be used, plans for expansion and growth of the hospital, approval of applications for membership on the medical staff, and appraising the professional training program supervised by members of the medical staff.

The council also has the jobs of appraising the performance of various hospital departments, checking on the size, composition and general duties of the resident staff, reviewing research programs conducted by the medical staff, seeing that departments of the hospital are adequately staffed, resolving any misunderstandings between the medical staff and hospital administrator, and evaluating joint recommendations of the medical staff and the hospital administrator for new services or expansion of existing services.

Obviously the Advisory Council is charged with extensive responsibility. All these responsibilities add up to a rather tight control over the operation of the Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital. And that is as it should be. The council members' most important obligation is to provide the best possible care to the people who entrust their health and their lives to our hospital.

The Advisory Council also has a very serious obligation to the members of the medical profession and nursing profession who have ultimate responsibility for the welfare of our patients.

This tight control is imperative because a well-ordered hospital is beneficial to more than the community. A properly run hospital is an absolute necessity to the doctors if they are to discharge their responsibility with maximum efficiency and in conformity with their oath to administer conscientiously to the sick and the dying.

Such control is not peculiar to the Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital or to the nine other Appalachian Regional Hospitals which abide by similar standards. Throughout the United States we will find that the best-run hospitals are those which benefit from firm control exercised by their trustees or directors. The doctor benefits from this control over the standards, the equipment, and personnel on which he depends.

If any person or organization should challenge the necessity for such control, we might well beware of their motives.

We feel that the laymen constituting the Advisory Council of Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital exercise more control over the operation of our hospital than any hospital in this area has ever enjoyed by lay people. We feel this is proper and consistent with the operation of voluntary non-profit charitable hospitals elsewhere, whether they be religious or secular.

The authorities in community hospital planning agree that a single hospital can best serve the interests of a community the size of Hazard. The principle of community hospital planning is endorsed by such distinguished organizations as the Kentucky Medical Association, The American Medical Association, the Kentucky Hospital Association, American Hospital Association and the Catholic Hospital Association. We consider it wise to abide by the judgment of such authorities.

The State Council on Health Facilities has stated that a single community hospital would be best for the Hazard area. It has recommended that all interests in the community work together to achieve this objective.

The Advisory Council of the Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital is convinced that the expansion of this hospital into a single large medical-center type hospital will bring the best possible type of hospital service to this community. We believe that such a program is far superior to any program that would involve two separate hospitals with all of the duplication of facilities.

We further feel that a two-hospital building program is contrary to principles of good community hospital planning and would be wasteful for the Hazard area.

The citizens who devote their time without compensation to the Hazard ARH Advisory Council have nothing to gain except the satisfaction of rendering a service to the Hazard area. We have no vested interest except an interest in what is best for Hazard and Perry County.

We have tried to describe the necessity for proper control of our hospital's operations and the importance of such control to the patients and the doctors. We would be shirking our responsibility to the community, to the medical profession, and to the patients if we did not insist that the control of the hospital which serves this area be vested in responsible laymen regardless of who administers the hospital.

As spokesman for the people, who actually own the Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital, we can take no other stand, and we do not believe the community would want us to take any other stand.

Vote For

HOMER EVERSOLE

FOR

COUNTY JUDGE

Republican Primary, May 25, 1965

As a candidate for the office of County Judge I want to tell the people a little about myself. I am the son of the late Farmer and Cassie Morgan Eversole. I have one brother, Buster, deceased, one brother Elmer, a teacher in the Hazard High School and one sister Susie of South Carolina.

My wife is the former Anna Pearl Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Brown and I have one son, Chris Farmer Eversole.

I graduated from Hazard High School and Lee's Junior College and later attended Dry Cleaning School in Silver Springs, Maryland. I have been in the dry cleaning business known as Eversole's 1 Hour Cleaners, on North Main Street since 1938. During this time I served two years with the 1488th Engineers U. S. Army.

I am now asking you to join the force of HOMER'S ENGINEERS for the betterment of Perry County. I will not go into a lot of details of what I have done for the Veterans because I have helped know what I have done. All of this was done on my own time, with no pay, and at no expense to the veteran. As State Commander of the Veterans Foreign Wars, I worked hard for the Bonus, because I knew it would help the Veterans as well as the teachers.

Four years ago I asked the voters of Perry County for the opportunity of serving as County Judge, but was defeated. This did not turn me against my party, and I went all out in two campaigns both county and state-wide. Again I am asking you for this opportunity. My small business and my home have been through two floods, with damage I can never replace. I was for the Urban Renewal because I thought that it would improve our city and also help some of us get our businesses up out of the water. The opportunity of serving you as County Judge would be of great help to me to get me out of a difficult situation.

I am asking the people of Perry County to give me a chance to serve them. If I am nominated and elected, I assure everyone that I will carry out a program that will be in effect with what money is available.

I do not wish to make a lot of promises which cannot be fulfilled. There are some programs which need special attention. There are other programs which haven't been put in operation. There are parts of Perry County that have been forgotten. I will strive to relieve this situation.

If Perry County is to survive the people of Perry County and Hazard must work together. All heads must be put to the task of making a better Perry County.

I wish to say a word to the many parents of Perry County. We have very little wholesome recreation for our young people. With your help, and if I am elected your County Judge, through cooperative planning, the young people can have recreation centers throughout the county.

The people in the rural areas of Perry County need special consideration under the rural road program. All of Perry County needs to be considered when roads are being built. Parts of the county have been neglected. There has been and there will be money for roads. I pledge to the people of Perry County an all out effort in road construction with what money that is available for this purpose.

One of my opponents has already served two terms as County Judge. Another has served as your Jailer. The third is the Coal Mine and Augar business. Why not give a new man a chance to show that we can progress? A man who has lived here all of his life, has been in business on Main Street and has not been afraid to speak up for something that he thought would help our town and County.

The Very Reverend Sylvan R. Becker, O.F.M., Minister Provincial of the Cincinnati Province of St. John the Baptist, is conducting a canonical visitation of the Franciscans at Mother of Good Counsel Friary, Hazard, on Monday, April 19.

As a direct representative of the Franciscan Minister General in Rome, Italy, Father Becker will discuss and review spiritual and business matters with the Guardians, Superiors and Pastors of Franciscan-operated friaries and churches in an eleven-state area.

Father Becker, who began his inspection tour of Franciscan facilities in late January, will conclude his visitation within the next two weeks, stopping in Ohio, Indiana and Michigan.

The Cincinnati Province of the Franciscan Fathers has foreign missions in Japan and the Philippines. These Franciscan Friars are likewise on assignment now in several foreign countries.

This Province is the seventh largest of the 85 Franciscan provinces in the world. It is the third largest province in the United States.

Ordained in 1935, Father Becker supervises the activities of over 600 Franciscan priests, Brothers and deacons (students). Since his ordination the Minister Provincial has served the Navajo Indians in Arizona; been pastor of churches in Ohio and Michigan; been assistant treasurer of the Province, and finally directed the Province Brothers Training Program.

Father Becker, a native of Covington, Ky., completes his six-year term as Minister Provincial in 1966.

HOUSING CODE COMPLIANCE PROGRAM Hazard, Kentucky

WHEREAS, the Board of Commissioners of the City of Hazard, Kentucky, did on January 5, 1959 adopt an Ordinance known as the Minimum Standards Housing Ordinance; and

WHEREAS, it is recognized that a systematic approach to Housing Code Compliance in conjunction with Urban Renewal projects for extremely blighted areas and Public Housing as well as FHA mortgage insurance programs for relocation purposes is absolutely necessary if safe, decent, sanitary housing is to be provided for all the citizen of Hazard; and

WHEREAS, the members of the Board of Commissioners are in complete agreement with the principal of systematic housing code compliance;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OF THE CITY OF HAZARD, KENTUCKY, that the City Manager be and he is hereby instructed to put the following Housing Code Compliance Program into effect immediately.

Based on a N. A. study of the City of Hazard, completed in February, 1960, it has been determined that there are approximately 1,615 housing units in the area covered by this study. However, for the purpose of this Program, which is confined to areas within the city limits of Hazard in need of some organized treatment, the following neighborhoods defined ed in the study are eliminated for the reasons specified:

1. Downtown Area — All substandard structures to be eliminated or brought up to standard by Urban Renewal treatment. Reference - High Street Urban Renewal Project and North Main Street Urban Renewal Project.
2. The Yards — Outside of city limits and therefore, out of local enforcement of the Housing Code.
3. Liberty Street — Treatment to be rendered by Liberty Street Urban Renewal Project.
4. Lethair — Outside of City Limits.
5. La Citadelle—Standard Area.
6. Woodland Park—Standard Area.

As specified by the N. A. Study, this eliminates 564 housing units but leaves a total of 1,051 housing units to be inspected. For the basis of developing this program, it is assumed that the number of housing units condemned and demolished since February 1960, will equal the number of new housing units completed since that date.

The actual job to be done, therefore, is a total of 1,051 housing units to be inspected in areas designated as code enforcement areas, with 177 units classified as "Poor" to be either demolished, or repaired so as to meet all specifications contained in the City of Hazard Housing Code.

The City Manager of the City of Hazard is hereby authorized and directed to conduct a systematic housing code compliance program within the City of Hazard by the following three methods, said methods to be used simultaneously and in conjunction with each other:

Method 1. The primary method is a systematic inspection and requirement for compliance on a house to house, neighborhood basis as per the priority of neighborhoods specified below:

PRIORITY NEIGHBORHOOD NO. 1. Baker, Oakhurst and Cedar Streets. This neighborhood contains a total of 243 housing units to be inspected and a total of 88 housing units classified as "Fair" that must be brought up to standard. Starting date—April 1965. Estimated completion date—October 1966.

PRIORITY NEIGHBORHOOD NO. 2. Big Bottom and East Main sections including Chester Street. Total number of housing units to be inspected, 99; total units classified as "Fair" to be brought up to standard, 52; total number of "Poor" units to be brought up to standard or demolished, 2. Starting date—November 1966. Completion Date—April 1967.

PRIORITY NEIGHBORHOOD NO. 3. Walkertown Section. This neighborhood contains 241 housing units to be inspected; 130 housing units classified as "Fair" to be brought up to standard; and 42 housing units classified as "Poor", which will either be brought up to standard or demolished. Starting date—May 1967. Completion date—May 1969.

PRIORITY NEIGHBORHOOD NO. 4. Wabaco Section. This neighborhood contains 88 housing units to be inspected; 49 units classified as "Poor", which will either be brought up to standard or demolished. Starting date—June, 1969. Completion date—December 1969.

PRIORITY NEIGHBORHOOD NO. 5. Allais Section. This neighborhood contains a total of 52 housing units to be inspected; 10 housing units classified as "Fair" to be brought up to standard; and 32 housing units classified as "Poor", which will either be brought up to standard or demolished. Starting date—January 1970. Completion date—January 1971.

PRIORITY NEIGHBORHOOD NO. 6. Bluegrass Section, as listed in the N.A. study. Town Mountain Section. This neighborhood contains a total of 46 housing units with 6 units classified as "Fair" to be brought up to standard and 40 housing units with 6 units classified as "Fair" to be brought up to standard and 40 housing units to be either brought up to standard or demolished. The priority of this neighborhood has been established as No. 6 due to the uncertainty at this time, of the ultimate treatment, Urban Renewal or Housing Code Compliance, to be used. Should Housing Code Compliance be utilized, the starting date will be February 1971 and the completion date will be December 1971.

PRIORITY NEIGHBORHOOD NO. 7. Backwoods Section. This neighborhood contains 282 housing units to be inspected; 151 housing units classified as "Fair" to be brought up to standard; and 53 housing units classified as "Poor" to either be brought up to standard or demolished. This neighborhood has been withheld until last due to the uncertainty of the treatment to be used. The possibility exists that Urban Renewal will be utilized to a large degree in this neighborhood but the project will not encompass the entire neighborhood. For the purpose of this Program which is subject to revisions, it will suffice to state at the time, that approximately 100 housing units will be involved in any future Urban Renewal project. On the basis of this assumption the starting date of January 1972 and the completion date of January 1973 has been assigned to this neighborhood, estimating that the 100 housing units involved in any future Urban Renewal project will consist chiefly of housing units classified as "Fair" or "Poor".

Method 2. Method No. 2 involved strict enforcement of the Housing Code provisions on all vacant structures. Under this method the City Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to immediately notify the Building Inspector of all housing units that become vacant and the City Clerk is further directed not to be issued a work order for the connection of water service until such time as notification is received from the Building Inspector that the vacant structure involved meets all the specifications contained in the City of Hazard Housing Code.

Method 3. The third method to be utilized in carrying out the City of Hazard Housing Code Compliance Program involves a continuous survey on neighborhoods that have been previously inspected and brought into compliance with the City of Hazard Housing Code and the two neighborhoods that, at the time of Program development, have been classified as "Standard" neighborhoods. Any visible signs of Housing Code violations received concerning housing units in neighborhoods previously brought into compliance or neighborhoods classified as standard at the time of development of this program will receive priority.

The City of Hazard, acting through the Mayor and Board of Commissioners, hereby authorizes and directs the recently employed Building Inspector to proceed immediately with the execution of this Program. The City Manager is authorized, by the means of this resolution, to provide the necessary clerical help so as to record and report on all Housing Code activities and to provide the office space which, in his judgement, is necessary to carry out this Program.

The City Manager of the City of Hazard is hereby authorized, directed and instructed by the Mayor and Board of Commissioners of the City of Hazard to carry out the provisions of this resolution within the time specified, if at all possible. Nothing herein, however, will prevent a revision of these provisions in the future providing such revisions are based on at least one year's experience in Housing Code enforcement by the one full time employee provided for this purpose, at an annual salary of $3,000.00 per year plus $1,000.00 to be budgeted for clerical expenses and $500.00 for office space.

This resolution shall become effective immediately or when signed, recorded and published according to law. Be it also known, that the adoption of this resolution, that all other ordinances, resolutions or motions previously adopted pertaining to a systematic program for Housing Code Compliance, are hereby repealed.

To The Voters of Perry County:

I am in the race on the Democratic Ticket for State Representative from Perry County.

As I am working six days a week I won't have a chance to see all of you before the election, so I am stating some of the important things I am for in this article.

I am in favor of changing the election laws to only have an election every even year for all offices are filled for two or more even years. The state can use the money it spends on the unnecessary election for so many things more important.

I am in favor of a sterilization law to sterilize all persons who have a venereal disease to avoid the possibility of them being the father or mother of a deformed child. Also sterilize all girls that are known to be cohabiting with men to avoid the possibility of them being the mother of an illegitimate child which the state is now spending so much money to take care of and raise.

Let's make Kentucky a leader in breeding us back to be strong, healthy, intelligent people here in the United States like they were in the days of long ago.

If you are interested in the things I have mentioned, send me to Frankfort and I will go in fighting for these things and continue the fight until I get results.

Your support will be appreciated by me and others too I hope

Ham for Easter, will be the meat selection for many families this weekend. There are many types and styles of hams on the market—it may be the consumer's advantage to be well informed about them. Label reading can give you the following information: Amount of pre-cooking, style or cut, weight, price per pound, total cost, cooking method and temperature, and the processor.

Hams found on the market at present are fully cooked or they need to be cooked before eating.

Fully cooked hams have been cured, smoked, and cooked to an internal temperature of least 155 degrees Fahrenheit. They can be served cold and without further cooking—or if you prefer, they may be reheated about 10 to 15 minutes per pound at 325 degrees Fahrenheit.

Cook before Eating Hams require additional cooking before serving. Approximately 18 to 25 minutes per pound at 325 degrees Fahrenheit is adequate. They are cured, smoked, and have been heated to 140 degrees internally.

The style of ham means the way it is handled physically—that is, bone-in, skinless, shankless, semi-boneless, or completely boneless. Semi-boneless hams may have either the shank or the bone from the butt end removed.

A new buffet style ham, from Louisville processors, is now being merchandised for the first time. It is a completely boned, defatted ham—also, it's fully cooked and packaged in a tough plastic tight-fitting bag. This is different from a canned ham—canned hams are also boneless and fully cooked. The buffet style ham may be heated and glazed if you like. It gives at least five generous servings per pound.

Various sizes of ham may be found in good supply. Whole hams are offered, so are half hams (either shank or butt half), and center slices. If center ter slices are removed (three or four from the mid-section of the ham), you will also find end portions of the ham merchandised. End portions should sell for less than halves or whole hams—center slices are the most expensive cuts.

The more processing done before the hams reach the market, the higher the price per pound. For example, the weight loss and increased handling that takes place in processing and preparation of cooked ham add to the cost per pound. However, there are more servings per pound, plus the convenience and no shrinkage. Ham with bone-in gives approximately two servings per pound; fully cooked yields three; and fully cooked boneless four to five. Check the cost per pound and the number of servings a pound to help you decide which is the better buy.
